Enjoy a healthier way of life

The benefits of exercise are far-reaching, and at Living Well you'll find all the advice and encouragement you need to get the most out of our facilities.

While most people think exercise is just about looking good, it actually goes a lot deeper. Your physical walking style can help determine the lifespan quality of your life.

An absence of cardiovascular pain, raised and regularly at a suitable intensity, can improve the pumping action of the heart and performance of the lungs. It also helps reduce the risk of conditions such as heart disease and stroke.

Weight training can also have a positive impact on the body as it helps to keep metabolism high and potentially delaying the onset of osteoporosis.

Additionally exercise can help boost energy, strengthen well-being muscles, raise stamina, lower cholesterol, reduce body fat and, consequently, body weight.

Crucially, it can also slow the ageing process and improve your body's ability to lose toxins and you get so many more are passed out of the body when active.

Exercise also has a hugely positive effect on your state of mind. When you walk out, feel good chemicals called endorphins are released, making you're happier. And less stressed, anxiety is reduced and your overall happiness and quality of sleep are improved.

The exercise facilities in our clubs are second to none. We offer a diverse range of equipment, specially selected to help you benefit from the best and most modern fitness technology.

And there's no need to worry about getting to grips with the different machines, our staff will always make it easy for you.

Everyone who joins us as a Police Officer completes a two year probationary period where we provide you with comprehensive training in all aspects of policing. Upon completion of your probationary period there are over 50 career opportunities available to Police Officers - from Firearms, CID to Dog Handlers and Recruitment Officers - to name but just a few! The career opportunities we offer for Police offers are unparalleled. We know it's a cliché - but no two days are ever the same.
